

Helping people with reduced mobility and disabilities stay independently mobile

Assessment services at Mobility

QEF Mobility Services is one of the UK's largest providers of mobility advice and support, providing a wide range of services focused on helping disabled people and people of all ages become mobile and independent.

Driving assessment

Our instructors will assess your safety to drive and recommend the best ways for you to improve your safety, such as car adaptations and extra tuition. This assessment is for drivers with a neurological condition, physical disability or psychological difficulty, provisional licence holders, and those aged over 70.

Drivers who need advice on adapted controls and vehicle choice can try out adapted cars that suit their needs on our large private track.

Transfer and seating assessment

Helping drivers who have difficulty getting themselves, or others, in and out of a car. We can advise you on varying solutions to seating and equipment stowage

Scooter or wheelchair assessment

Comprehensive advice and a practical trial to assess the type of mobility vehicle most suitable for your safety and stability – including wheelchair passports if required.

Driving School

Rehabilitative tuition, driving lessons for confidence training and to adapt to new control methods, and learner driver training to test standard. All with specialist instructors using our fleet of adapted cars.

Tryb4uFly

The opportunity to try seating and transfer options in a realistic aircraft setting before you fly.
